Who are you? Who do you want to be? Who's your family?

What do you look like? What are your morals?

When in your life are you adventuring?

Where did you come from? Where are you going?

Why are you adventuring? Why with this group?

AP: Action Points

You have 5 AP.

They are restored at the start of the Enemy Phase.

Actions & Abilities

Actions are underlined and can be done in Combat by spending AP. If an Action says SP, it's referring to the SP in the same Stat. Describe Actions however you want! They can't go through inaccessible Zone boundaries.

Abilities are italicized and always active or automatically triggered when something happens.

SP: Stat Points

Each Stat has its own SP.

Characters start with 3 SP in the first block for each Stat.

Rounding

Always round up!

Roleplaying

To roleplay, think on how your character would act in a moment and describe your character's behavior.

If your character tries to do something that would be difficult or unlikely for your character, the GM might ask for a Stat roll. Do this by rolling 1d6 and adding your highest, unlocked Roleplay Bonus from that Stat.

In combat, you can do stuff that isn't listed as an Action, like pulling a lever or grappling an enemy, by roleplaying! Spend 1 AP to roleplay in combat. The GM asks you to roll a Stat, or you can request a specific one. Roll 1d6 and add that Stat's highest, unlocked Roleplay Bonus.

Rolladie.net

Abbreviations

LV stands for your Level.

SP stands for the Stat Points in "this" Stat.

Leveling Up

Players have 10 Max Health and 4 Stat Points (SP) per Level.
